IBM, Labels Plan Internet Delivery Test

IBM and the five major record companies are working together to test digital delivery of music over the Internet. The companies have planned a six-month trial in San Diego that will test the sale of full-length albums over the Internet. The 1,000 users in the trial will pay for albums by credit card and then download them (in about three minutes) using cable modems. Consumers will then be able to burn the music onto a disc and also print out the album artwork. More than 2,000 albums and singles will be available during the trial. The downloadable music will use IBM's digital watermark system, the Electronic Music Management System. The San Diego trial is set to start between April and June, and it will also test digital delivery of albums using slower telephone modems. The five majors, BMG, EMI, Sony, Universal and Warner Music, have previously announced their involvement in the RIAA's Secure Digital Music Initiative, which will develop voluntary standards for the secure digital distribution of music. "Digital distribution of music over the Internet has the potential to provide consumers with immediate access to a vast selection of music," said Unviersal Music Group's Larry Kenswil. "Not only will this (Continued on page 14)

R.E.M. Plans First International Tour In Four Years

Despite R.E.M.'s earlier announcement that it wouldn't tour in support of its 1998 album Up, the band has decided to embark on its first full-scale international tour in four years. The tour, which will span 15 countries and will include 45 performances, kicks off on June 17 in Portugal. The tour marks the Athens. Georgia, band's first tour without its founding drummer Bill Berry, who left the band in 1997. (Continued on page 14).

BEN LEE

Breathing Tornados (Grand Royal-Capitol)

II Seven years into his musical career, 20-year-old Australian Ben Lee has outgrown the "prodigy" tag. That's okay, though, because Lee's third solo album proves that his songwriting warrants much more attention than his age. The adventurous Breathing Tornados proves Lee capable of experimenting with new forms of expression, without abandoning the hooky pop and acoustic folk of his previous work. In addition to Lee's guitar work, Breathing Tornados unexpectedly offers machine-made beats, keyboards, horns and assorted weird samples. Lee's emphasis on texture and rhythm only adds to the power of his songs the combination of piano loops, beats and moving vocals on "Cigarettes Will Kill You" makes the cut a pop gem with a decidedly modern glint. Just as Lee's songs have matured, his voice has reached new peaks, soaring confidently on "Burn To Shine" and growing low and sultry on "Sunflower." His songs are still bursting with personal emotion, but his references have grown less straightforward and more intriguing. Hearing "little" Ben Lee utter the line "please take off your clothes" isn't the album's only lyrical surprise. - Wendy Mitchell

PEANUT BUTTER WOLF

My Vinyl Weighs A Ton (Copasetik-Stud!o K7)

Suburban California beat junkie Peanut Butter Wolf has so much hiphop coursing through his veins you'd think he jumped right out of a South Bronx graffiti mural. After spending more than 10 years in the trenches of the West Coast circuit while Death Row gangstas ruled the terrain above, the 24-year-old turntablist has hit the daylight armed and dangerous with his first album for Stud!o K7's Copasetik imprint. My Vinyl Weighs A Ton features a battle royale between members of the three hottest DI collectives in the land, and it boasts perhaps the most remarkably wellcrafted musical approach by a single rap artist since Dr. Dre's The Chronic. Like Josh Davis tuned in to his inner Pete Rock, PBW morphs mindboggling turntable routines into raw, stable beats, giving room to a freestyle fellowship of Bay Area verb slingers - including Rasco, Planet Asia, Lootpack and slain partner Charizma - to deliver their Webster-defying stanzas. NYC better not be caught sleeping, because Peanut Butter Wolf's vinyl doesn't just weigh a ton, it stinks of revolution. - Ron Hart

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Reich Remixed (Nonesuch)

Whether or not he or she has heard of Steve Reich, nearly every remixer follows in the composer's footsteps. In the '60s, Reich opened the door for sound reconfiguration when he began experimenting with snippets of speech on two out-ofphase tape recorders. The pulsing orchestrations he's created since that time are alarmingly precise, yet infinitely open-ended - rarely has source material been so historically and sonically appropriate for remixing. On Reich Remixed, nine remixers (including DJ Spooky, Howie B and Ken Ishii) fashion the originals into everything from haunting, ambient dreamscapes to rhythmic throwdowns. funky. Reich's "Music For 18 Musicians" presents a rather compressed melodic range, but its rhythmic possibilities are plentiful, making every one and zero a launch pad for invention in Coldcut's trippy remix. Tranquility Bass's "Megamix" brings several pieces into the fold, raising Reich's phasing techniques to the third or fourth power. The album also allows one innovator to honor another, as Mantronik adds his inimitable DJ fire to "Drumming," Reich's blistering exploration of African percussion. Don't cross the 21st-century bridge without hearing this one. - Steve Ciabattoni

GUNGA DIN Introducing The Gunga Din (Tractor Beam)

The Gunga Din physically resides in New York City's Lower East Side. but its spiritual body surely lives in some dimly lit cabaret in East Berlin. Taking equal inspiration from the stoned rock poetry of the Doors' Strange Days and from the strangled gothic blues of the Bad Seeds circa Tender Prey, the Gunga Din's music is focused more on what it's able to suggest, rather than on what it directly communicates. Vocalist Siobhan Duffy's sultry nightclub vamping goes a long way towards accomplishing the band's noir-ish goal, but it's the tastefully evil sounds of a leering Farfisa organ and a psych-damaged guitar that completes its black velvet mise-enscène. On "Dreambox" and "Gilded Cage" the garage-y stomp is imbued with a kind of menacing cool, while on "Time For Love" or "Surrey Hotel" (both featuring guitarist Bill Bronson on vocals) the mood turns sparse and blissfully strung-out. There's a measure of restraint in the band's performance on Introducing that's indescribably creepy, hinting that something much more subversive is lurking just below the album's darkly stylized surface. - Colin Helms

Seagram Posts $226 Million 2Q Loss

Canadian beverage and entertainment company Seagram Co. reported a net loss of $226 million, or 63 cents per share, during its fiscal second quarter, compared with last year's net profit of $28 million, or 8 cents per share. The results included a $405 million pretax restructuring charge related to Seagram's $10.4 billion acquisition of PolyGram NV, plus more disappointing results from the company's motion picture group. Seagram's secondquarter revenues were $3.3 billion, up from $3 billion last year. The new Universal Music Group's pro-forma revenues rose 11% to $2.2 billion, while cash flow rose 17% to $451 million.

Digable Planets Leader Plans Solo Album

Three years after the Digable Planets disbanded, the group's former leader, Ishmael, is preparing to release his solo debut album. Pendulum Records, through Red Ant Entertainment, will release his new album, Ishmael Since 1999, in June. A single will arrive in April. Ishmael recorded the album in New York and San Francisco with his co-producer Marcel Sanders. Of his new solo work, Ishmael cryptically says, "I tried to make the songs sound like the beginning of the world."

Bloodshot Starts Revival Imprint

Chicago-based Bloodshot Records, working with Soundies, has launched a new imprint called Bloodshot Revival. The imprint will concentrate on issuing unreleased recordings from country greats. The debut release will be Rex Allen's The Last Of The Great Singing Cowboys, due out on March 23. Allen recorded the songs from 1946-1949 during his stint on Chicago's radio show "WLS Barn Dance." Bloodshot Revival's second release will be Spade Cooley's Shame On You: The Western Swing Dance Gang, due out on April 20. The Western California swing artist recorded the album's tracks in 1944 and 1945, and they include collaborations with vocalist Tex Williams. Future releases in 1999 will include collections from Ernest Tubb, Sons Of The Pioneers and Hank Thompson. The CDs will be remastered from the transcription lacquers, and will also feature period artwork and liner notes.

Reverend Horton Heat Signs To Time Bomb

Rockabilly outfit Reverend Horton Heat has signed a new deal with Orange County, California-based label Time Bomb Recordings. The band is currently writing and recording material in a Dallas studio for its sixth album, which Time Bomb plans to release in mid-summer. Reverend Horton Heat also plans to tour extensively in support of the album. "The people who work at the label have always been fans of the band," says band mananger Scott Weiss. "We've seen them at the shows and have known them for years. We are excited that they seem genuinely interested in the music." Interscope Records released Reverend Horton Heat's last album, 1998's Space Heater.

GoodNoise Completes Buy Of Emusic.com

GoodNoise Corp. has completed its acquisition of Creative Fulfillment Inc., the Santa Monica, California-based entertainment and Internet marketing company that operates the Emusic.com Web site. After combining the companies' operations, GoodNoise will use the Emusic.com domain name as the primary brand name for its downloadable music site. Under the terms of the acquisition, GoodNoise will issue 630,190 shares of its common stock, and GoodNoise will pay about $300,000 cash. Emusic will become a wholly owned unit of GoodNoise. "The name Emusic is an ideal domain name for the business we're in," said GoodNoise President/CEO Gene Hoffman. "As we continue to acquire compelling content, we believe that Emusic will be a leading destination site for fans seeking downloadable music. GoodNoise also said that its previously announced acquisition of Entertainment, a downloadable music site, should be completed by the end of March.

Caroline To Distribute Celestial

Independent hip-hop and jungle label Celestial has signed a production and distribution deal with Caroline Distribution. "No single label in the world is combining drum-and-bass and underground hip-hop with the style and quality that Celestial has already achieved in their brief existence," said Caroline's Michael Bull. "Their unique aesthetic and forward-thinking vision is ideally suited for the Caroline family of labels. We look for them to fit in perfectly with the likes of Astralwerks, Ninja Tune, Jungle Sky and Wordsound." Celestial's upcoming releases through Caroline include Phoenix Orion's Zimulated Experiencez, Hive's Working With Sound, Alien Nation's "Return To Cybertron" single and debut full-length, Supernatural's "Armageddon At Your Door" single and Naptron The Meta-Predator's "Styles Of Madness" single. For more information, visit www.fusionist.com/ celestial/.

Matador Signs Void, Demolition Doll Rods

Matador Records has signed Detroit's Demolition Doll Rods and London's Void. In The Red Records released the Doll Rods' 1997 full-length album, Tasty. The garage rock trio will release its Matador debut this summer. Void is an experimental electronic duo featuring the DJs/programmers Chantelle Platter and Kim Robinson. Matador Europe will release Void's three 12"s, and a full-length album is due late in 1999. The duo is not to be confused with the legendary hardcore band Void, which recorded for Dischord Records.

Pavement Records With Nigel Godrich

Pavement is currently putting the finishing touches on its fifth album, which is slated for release on June 8. The band recorded the as-yet-untitled album in London with producer Nigel Godrich, known for his work with Beck, Jason Falkner and Radiohead. Contrary to Stephen Malkmus's offhand remarks recently quoted in Rolling Stone, Pavement "categorically denies" that this will be its last album. Pavement is expected to tour in support of the release starting in May or June.

Mammoth Signs Freestylers

Mammoth Records has signed London's electro breakbeat act Freestylers, which includes DJs/producers Matt Cantor and Aston Harvey. Mammoth will release their debut album, We Rock Hard, in May. The North American version will include bonus tracks not found on the U.K. release. Mammoth will also release a U.S. club 12" of "B-Boy Stance" with remixes by Dub Pistols, Grooverider and Robbie Hardkiss. Freestylers will be performing in March at Miami's Winter Music Conference and at Austin, Texas's South By Southwest convention. Also in March, Freestylers will launch a 12-member band tour that will make stops in major U.S. markets. British dance magazine Muzik recently named Freestylers the "Best Band Of The Year."

BURNING AIRLINES

Interview by Kelso Jacks

J. Robbins is no stranger to punk rock—he's played with both Government Issue and Jawbox. He's also become a sought-after producer, thanks to studio work with the likes of Braid and Jets To Brazil. Robbins has recently resumed his band activity as the singer-guitarist for Burning Airlines, which recently released its debut album, Mission: Control! (DeSoto Records).

CMJ: What's the message behind the song "3 Sisters"?

J. Robbins: There are islands in the Potomac [River] called the Three Sisters, and there's an Indian fable explaining them through this story of three girls who drowned crossing [the river]. So, it's that, and my irrational fear of open water that's too deep to feel the bottom in. I'm all about swimming in pools and stuff, but it's only like once out of five times that I can go to the beach and body surf without freaking out about it.

Explain the sound clip from the film version of Franz Kafka's The Trial used for "(My Pornograph)"?

I'm a big fan of Orson Welles. The movie stars Anthony Perkins as Joseph K., and Welles as the Advocate. Welles also wrote the script, adding extra dialogue filled with double entendres. At one point, the police are busting into Joseph K.'s apartment, and he's so indignant and self-righteous. The way he says, "You won't find any subversive literature or pornography here. Don't touch those record albums!" I love that! But he gets so flustered that he blurts out, "That's my pornograph, I mean phonograph." It seemed perfect for this studio jam we had going.

Do you prefer performing or producing?

I love touring. There's nothing better to me than actually being able to get out there and get on stage and actually seeing people react to what you're doing. That never gets old to me. But I've been fortunate and have worked with bands whose records are really good things. Most everything I've engineered or produced I would want to hear again, even if I hadn't worked on it. I guess, I'm trying to work it so I can do both.

Vanguard Signs Tab Benoit

Louisiana blues guitarist-vocalist Tab Benoit has signed a multi-album deal with Vanguard Records. His label debut (and fifth album) is due in fall 1999. Vanguard also acquired all of Benoit's existing masters, which will be reissued in April. "Signing Tab brings Vanguard back to the forefront of blues music," said Kevin Welk, Vanguard's VP/General Manager. "With a tremendous catalog of legendary blues artists including Buddy Guy, Junior Wells, Skip James and Mississippi John Hurt, Vanguard intends on further building that catalog with the signing of artists of Tab's stature." Vanguard's roster also includes Peter Case, David Wilcox, Venice, Ian Tyson, Pam Gadd and John Jennings.

Beggars Banquet To Release Go-Betweens' Best-Of Album

Spring will be a prolific season for the defunct Australian pop band the Go-Betweens. On May 4, Beggars Banquet will release Bellavista Terrace: The Best TheOf Go-Betweens, which presents the first comprehensive history of the band. The collection will feature 14 tracks from their albums 16 Lovers Lane, Liberty Belle And The Black Diamond Express, Before Hollywood, Spring Hill Fair and Tallulah, along with a previously unreleased early track called 'Lee Remick." The Go-Betweens formed in 1978 and disbanded in 1990, leaving members Robert Forster and Grant McLennan to pursue successful solo careers. As CMJ previously reported, in April Jetset Records will release a "lost" album of Go-Betweens material recorded from 1978-1979. Forster and McLennan also plan to tour the U.S. in June.

Master P To Develop Series With MTV

Multi-talented entrepreneur Master P has negotiated a production deal between MTV Networks and his film/TV/video company No Limit Filmworks. Master P will executive produce and star in a half-hour "dramedy" series that will air on MTV. P will portray Officer Calliope, a boot camp officer chosen to rehabilitate juveniles from dysfunctional environments. If the collaboration is a success, more projects between the companies are possible. No Limit Filmworks also has two independent flicks on the way. Foolish, a comedy starring Master P and comedian Eddie Griffin, is due in April. No Tomorrow, an action drama starring P, Pam Grier and Gary Busey, is slated for a summer release.

Buckethead's New Album Due In June

Buckethead back in the studio recording his album. Monsters And Robots CyberOctave/ Higher Octave Music, through Virgin Records, will release the album in June. Buckethead has already completed sessions at Les Claypool's Rancho Relaxo Studios in Northern California. At those sessions, he worked with guest musicians including Primus's Claypool and Brain, plus turntablist PhonosycographDisk. Buckethead will now record more tracks at the Embalming Plant Studios in Emeryville, California, and Bill Laswell's Orange Music Studio in Orange, New Jersey. During those sessions, the guitarist will collaborate with DJ Q-Bert of Invisbl Skratch Picklz, DJ Eddie Def, Bill Laswell and Parliament's Bootsy Collins. Unlike the acoustic guitar styles found on Buckethead's last album Colma, Monsters And Robots is said to mark a return to his "disembodied guitar fury."

Love And Rockets To Launch North American Tour

Love And Rockets have planned their first North American tour since 1996. The tour, in support of their 1998 album Lift (Red Ant), will start on March 2 in Detroit. Initial dates will run through April 9 in Cincinnati, although more dates are expected to be announced later. Orgy will open the shows.

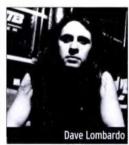

Love And Rockets features three former members of Bauhaus, Daniel Ash, David J and Kevin Haskins.

Recess Plans Dwarves Retrospectives

Recess Records plans to release two retrospectives of rare and unreleased material by neo-punk band the Dwarves. Lick It compiles 34 songs of the band's early material recorded between 1983 and 1986. Free Cocaine includes 39 songs from the band's Sub Pop era, which lasted from 1986-1991. Recess will issue both on CD and limited-edition double vinyl.

Ex-Slayer Drummer Goes Classical

Dave Lombardo, former drummer for Slayer and current drummer for Grip Inc., has teamed with renowned classical musicians to interpret the work of composer Antonio Vivaldi. On May 4, Thirsty Ear Recordings will release Vivaldi: The Meeting, the brainchild of conductor Lorenzo Arruga that features Lombardo, oboist Luca Alvanzi, contralto Caterina Calvi, organist Giogio Carnini, harpsichordist Ottavio Dantone, soprano Paola Quagliata and flautist Mauro Scappini.

Cuban-born Lombardo had no prior experience with classical music, but Arruga sought him out, inspired by Alejo Carpentier's Concierto Barroco, the story of a Cuban percussionist's musical meeting with Vivaldi. Vivaldi: The Meeting is said to revisit Vivaldi's music "with a vitality and sense of imagination that defies easy categorization."

Hendrix Film, Soundtrack In Works

Pioneer and EMD imprint The Right Stuff plan to release the DVD and VHS versions of D.A. Pennebaker's film Searching For Jimi Hendrix, as well as the film's soundtrack. The documentary already premiered on February 12 on Bravo, and it will be available for purchase on April 20. The film features performances by and interviews with 11 artists who pay tribute to Hendrix. Performers include rapper Chuck D., Laurie Anderson, Los Lobos, Cassandra Wilson, Charlie Musselwhite and others. Pennebaker also directed such films as Bob Dylan's Don't Look Back and David Bowie's Ziggy Stardust.

Cutters Sign With CMC International

Bloomington, Indiana, rockers the Cutters have signed a worldwide, multi-album deal with CMC International Records, a joint-venture label with BMG Entertainment. CMC has released the Cutters' album Sonic Wave Love internationally. The album's first single is "Satisfied."

Inger Lorre Album Features Buckley Duet

The late Jeff Buckley is one of the guest musicians on Inger Lorre's debut solo album, Transcendental Medication. Buckley duets with Lorre (ex-Nymphs) on a moody ballad entitled "Thief Without The Take." Triple X Records will release Lorre's album on March 30. Buckley had worked with Lorre on her demo tapes. ◆

READY FOR TAKE OFF: Capitol Records recently hosted two industry showcases to introduce U.S. tastemakers to U.K. "it boy" Robbie Williams. Capitol will release Williams's U.S. debut, The Ego Has Landed, on May 4. The album features material from his 1997 and 1998 solo albums that have topped the charts overseas. Strapped in at New York's airport-themed Idlewild Lounge are, L-R, Capitol President Roy Lott, Robbie Williams and Capitol's VP of A&R Dave Ayers.

RIAA Settles Copyright Suit

The Recording Industry Association Of America will receive $2.5 million in a copyright infringement settlement with American Multimedia Inc., a Burlington, North Carolina, CD and cassette replicating facility. An RIAA investigation found "a significant number of infringing CD and cassette orders that had been accepted for mastering and/or pressing by the plant." In addition to the monetary settlement, American Multimedia's new management team will adopt all of the RIAA's voluntary Anti-Piracy Good Business Practices. Also, American Multimedia will manufacture (free of charge) 500,000 enhanced CDs that will be used in MTV's anti-violence campaign, Fight For Your Rights: Take A Stand Against Violence. In related news, the RIAA filed a civil suit on February 10 against Pioneer Video Manufacturing, a CD manufacturing plant in Carson, California. The RIAA has asked the court for a permanent injunction and monetary damages to compensate the record labels for what the RIAA calls unauthorized sound recordings pressed by Pioneer. The RIAA said that most of the infringed recordings were by Latin music artists.

Crowd Management Study Finds Eight Deaths At '98 Concerts

Poor safety conditions, including lax backstage management, were the leading cause of deaths and injuries of concertgoers during 1998, according to data compiled by Crowd Management Strategies, a Chicago-based crowd safety consulting firm. In its seventh annual Rock Concert Safety Survey, CMS found that dangerous conditions at a sampling of 31 rock concerts and festivals caused the death of eight people and the injury of 6,000 more in 1998. Six of the deaths resulted from violence, and one death resulted from a fan's fall from a balcony. The eight documented deaths in 1998 represent a drop from the decade-high 19 deaths in 1997. CMS said that the decrease was due to the absence of major crowd calamities rather than improved safety structures. In addition, at least three concert-goers died in traffic accidents traveling to or from outdoor Phish festivals. CMS notes that its data is only gathered from a small sampling of concerts, and that the actual number of deaths is probably higher. For more information, visit www.crowdsafe.com.

Serge Entertainment Starts Booking Business

The Serge Entertainment Group has started a booking division. "We felt it was a necessary move for us to include the booking division since it is such a fundamental component of all musician's careers, but will restrict our nationwide booking efforts to our PR, management and recording label clients," said Owner/ President Sandy Serge. The Group's roster includes the Moon, Freak The Jones, David Frankel and Sweet Fancy Moses. Serge and Mark E. Waterbury will head the new booking division. The group is seeking experienced college booking agents across the country. Fax resumes to Serge at 770.850.9646.

CMJ Music Marathon '99 Expands Promotional, Educational Opportunities

This year's CMJ Music Marathon, MusicFest & FilmFest will feature several expanded promotional and educational offerings to benefit its registrants. The CMJ Exhibition Area will increase in size, to allow for a wider representation of music and Internet-related products, while the CMJ Mentor Program will be augmented to accommodate the overwhelming amount of registrants who responded to the program during CMJ '98. The CMJ Mentor Program features one-on-one sessions with expert representatives from a variety of fields in the music industry. The program was developed to assist those registrants interested in either pursuing a career in the music business, or just seeking general information or advice about their particular field of interest. ### NARAS Foundation Honors 250 High Schools

The NARAS Foundation has announced the winners of its Grammy Signature Schools program. A panel of music educators and professionals selected the 250 schools based on their commitment to music education. Each school will receive a certificate of recognition, and the top 16 schools will receive a $5,000 award. In addition, representatives from the top school will win a trip to the Grammy Awards. The NARAS Foundation and Target Stores fund the Grammy Signature Schools program. More than 14,000 public high schools were surveyed for this year's program. For more information, http://grammy.org/foundation/ signature.html.

Dormont Changes Management Structure

Dormont Technologies, makers of the StarTracker music marketing software and data service, have announced a new management structure. John Degory, who had been Dormont's VP of Sales and Marketing, has been promoted to President. He replaces Tom Cossie, the company's founder, who will continue to serve as Chairman and CEO.

Dormont also said it has launched "Phase II" of its business plan, which will include the transition from an entrepreneurial company to a growth-oriented technology company. Degory and the company plan to now focus on addressing the specific needs of overall technological challenges within labels, distributors and management companies. Degory plans to boost Dormont's technical resources to enhance StarTracker's compatibility with multiple platforms.

Go-Kart Plans Weekend Festival

New York City punk label Go-Kart Records is hosting its Kissin Cuzzins Weekend at New York's Coney Island High from February 26-27. New label signing Anti-Flag will play the first night, and the Lunachicks will play the second night. Plan A Project and the Pinkerton Thugs are also playing on Friday night. Saturday's opening bands include Boris The Sprinkler and Doc Hopper. The Toxic Avenger will host the festivities on both nights. The first 100 people to arrive each night will receive a free Go-Kart CD.

Country Encyclopedia Goes To CD-ROM

The interactive version includes photos, audio interviews, videos, artist discographies and more.

Lauder, Porter Form Cello Recordings

Andrew Lauder and producer John Porter have formed a new label, Cello Recordings, that will be distributed through Sire Records. Cello Recordings will have offices in the U.K., New York and Los Angeles. Cello will operate two distinct imprints: Jericho and Cello. Jericho will concentrate on contemporary recordings, and its first two releases will be from Jake Andrews and Cal Hollow. Cello will feature acoustic recordings, including the bluesoriented Music Maker Series. Cello Recordings CEO Andrew Lauder has previously worked with a variety of acts including Elvis Costello, Nick Lowe, the Buzzcocks, Stone Roses and Tindersticks. Cello President John Porter has worked with the Smiths, Bryan Ferry, Taj Mahal and B.B. King. Britain's Sanctuary Music Productions will market the releases in the U.S. and Europe. Sanctuary's David Weyner will head the U.S. operations from New York. The Cello Group Of Companies also includes Cello Music & Film Systems and Cello Studios.

Hip-O Records Releasing Excello Retrospective

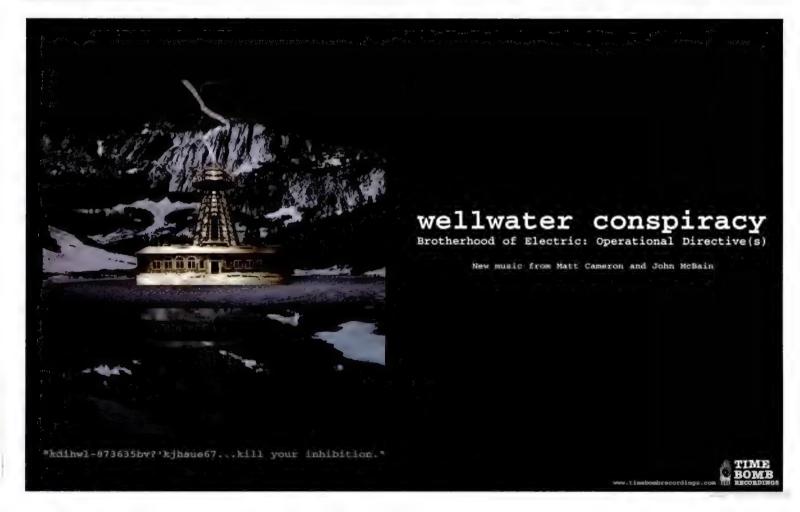

Hip-O Records is releasing a four-volume retrospective of classic recordings from Nashville, Tennessee, label Excello Records. The first two volumes, which cover 1952-1955 and 1955-1957 respectively, were released on February 9. Each volume includes 20 tracks, most of which are appearing on CD for the first time. Volumes 3 and 4 will follow in April. Excello was founded in 1952 as a gospel label, but it soon expanded into blues, soul, country and R&B. The retrospective includes tracks from artists such as Arthur Gunter, the Suns Of The South, Jack Toombs, the Marigolds, Lightnin' Slim, Lazy Lester and Slim Harpo.

Navarre To Distribute Pacific Time Entertainment

Recordnews

Wax Trax!-TVT Records has released the second installment in Mastermix series. This time around, Adam X will supply the beats. continuous Mastermix Volume II:

Adam X is the promoter/DJ's first record of this kind, and the turntable ace cuts apart music by Kevin Saunderson, Kenny Larkin and Kooky Scientist to excellent effect. X also happens to be Frankie Bones's brother. Sibling rivalry, anyone?

Los Angles-based punk label BYO recently issued its first title for 1999. Of Things To Come is the soundtrack to snowboarding video of the same name. The video, which was shot at a variety of locations around the globe, features the talents of Mark Jero, Ali Goulet, Jay Nelson and other athletes, while the soon-to-be-released soundtrack contains rock by Error Type: 11, Pezz, H2O, Zeke, Bouncing Souls, Supersuckers and other energetic folks.

In October of 1995, Autechre, the Sheffield, England, electronic duo of Sean Booth and Rob Brown, recorded a session for celebrated disc jockey John Peel's show on BBC Radio One. Nothing Records has released a 25-minute Peel Sessions EP of the performance, which included such tracks as 'Milk DX," "Inhake 2" and the aptly-titled "Drone."

Back To Donut is a new compilation -or compoopilation, depending which part of the album art you read - on Gainesville, Florida, label No Idea. The 33-track record contains work by such label-affiliated bands as Elmer, Anthem 88, Less Than Jake, Panthro U.K. United 13, Schlong, Strikeforce Diablo, I Hate Myself and Left For Dead.

Pet Rock Records has unearthed solo material by heavy rock titan and Mountain drummer Corky Laing. The Secret Sessions were recorded in upstate New York, during the autumn of 1978. Long-haired '70s icons Ian Hunter, John Sebastian, Paul Butterfield, Leslie West and Todd Rundgren helped Laing create the album, and a portion of proceeds from the record will benefit Handgun Control. The drummer and the label will donate the money in memory of Laing's longtime friend, bassist Felix Pappalardi, who was murdered by his wife in 1983.

Interscope soundtrack to Office Space, Jennifer Aniston's new big-screen comedy about life and love in the workplace, features 12 decidedly hip-hop tracks by Kool Keith, Ice Cube, the Geto Boys, Junior Reid, Scarface and a handful of others.

On March 23, Ubiquity Records will issue Superappin', a compilation of new-breed, underground hip-hop. The record, released in conjunction with European label Groove Attack, contains jams by Rasco, High And Mighty, L-Fudge, Lootpack and El Da Sensei, among others.

It cannot be denied: at one point in time, the New Kids On The Block had the right stuff. Even if only 12-year-old girls felt that way. Well aware of the timeless appeal of fresh-faced young men, Columbia Legacy went digging for the Massachusetts boy-group's Greatest Hits. Given the current, well-oiled antics of similar squeaky-clean studs such as N'Sync and the Backstreet Boys, this anthology is all too spooky. In fact, the record is even timelier in light of the recently-hatched solo careers of ex-New Kids Jordan Knight and Joe McIntyre. Chart topping faves "Step By Step," "Hangin' Tough" and "You Got It (The Right Stuff)" are just three of the 14, all-toofamiliar Hits.

London Records has released the soundtrack to the Tri-Star Pictures film Jawbreaker. The female buddy movie stars Rose McGowan, Rebbeca Gayheart and Julie Benz. Appropriately, the soundtrack contains tough-but-sweet songs by the Prissteens, the Friggs, Imperial Teen, the Donnas and others.

Entartre Kunst Records has released the six-CD No Music Box. Recorded in March 1998 at the London, Ontario, No Music Festival, the box is a clawing compendium of American, Japanese and Canadian noise-mongering. The festival was organized to pay tribute to fabled avant-garde instrument-builders the Nihilist Spasm Band (members of which are now in their late 50s and early 60s!), and Thurston Moore, Knurl, Alan Licht, Ioio Hiroshige and Junko, John Corbett with Terri Kapsalis and Hal Rammel, and the Nihilist Spasm Band itself showed up for the two-day event. Mercifully, the label has tucked a set of earplugs into the package.

British free music pioneer Derek Bailey must spend an awful lot of money on postage. For Play Backs (Bingo Records), the guitarist solicited tracks by a number of acclaimed musicians. Bailey, in turn, played over the pre-recorded rhythm tracks. Bundy K. Brown, Loren Mazzacane, Jim O'Rourke and Darryl Moore were just a few of the record's gracious sound-donors.

Velvel Records has singed Hugh Cornwell, former frontman for class of '77 U.K. punk outfit the Stranglers. The fruit of that pairing is a reissue of the singer's third solo album Guilty, which is now available domestically on Velvel, under the title Black Hair Black Eyes Black Suit. Cornwell, who holds a Ph.D. in biochemistry, will even embark on an American tour in support of the record.

A portion of the proceeds from the new compilation The Best Of Rockline will be donated to MusiCares, a nonprofit organization that helps needy members of the National Academy

Of Recording Arts And Sciences pay their medical expenses. The Priority Records release captures 12 performers' live sets for the syndicated radio program. The Wallflowers' "6th Avenue Heartache," Matthew Sweet's "Into Your Drug," Two's "I Am A Pig" and Lenny Kravitz's "Circus" make this an enticing purchase for alternarock completists.

The Stratosphere film Six Ways To Sunday stars Deborah Harry and Isaac Hayes. Will Records has pressed up a soundtrack, featuring Hayes, Blondie, the inimitable Schooly D, the Feminine Complex, Bob Thompson and others. • system allow consumers to purchase popular and current recordings, but it will also open the door to catalog and hard-to-find recordings rarely available through existing retail outlets. This market trail is an important step in assessing consumers' needs and desires when buying music online."

R.E.M. announced plans to tour last spring but reneged, claiming it didn't feel comfortable on the road without Berry. R.E.M.'s last tour, in support of its 1995 album Monster, was marked by health and other problems, including Berry's lifethreatening brain aneurysm. Beck's drummer, Joey Waronker, will take Berry's place behind the kit and multiinstrumentalists Scott McCaughey and Ken Stringfellow will also join the tour. Frontman Michael Stipe explained the change of heart about hitting the road: "...[We] had nothing going on this summer. We had a great time in the fall doing promo shows, we love the record...and we're really excited to play." R.E.M. will play U.S. dates from August 9 to September 11. The U.S. stops will include Los Angeles; Irvine, California; Mountain View, California; Denver; San Antonio, Texas; St. Louis; Chicago; Minneapolis; Detroit; Cleveland; Raleigh, North Carolina; Atlanta; Seattle; Jones Beach, New York; Washington, D.C.; Holmdel, New Jersey, Philadelphia and Boston.

albums back the 20year bonds. Iron Maiden has sold more than 52 million albums worldwide to date. Global Entertainment Capital handled the bond deal. David Bowie, Ashford &

Simpson and the Motown songwriting team of Brian Holland, Lamont Dozier and Eddie Holland have issued similar deals in the past. In other Iron Maiden news, vocalist Bruce Dickinson and guitarist Adrian Smith have reunited with bassist Steve Harris, guitarists Dave Murray and Janick Gers and drummer Nicko McBrain. The new lineup will tour the U.S. and Europe in July, August and September. Iron Maiden also plans to record a new studio album at the end of the year, and launch a full world tour in 2000.

Weezer's bubblegum-y pop-punk, Return Of The Rentals spawned the hit single "Friends Of P." and established Sharp as a talent all his own. Having officially parted ways with Weezer, Sharp will once again put his songwriting skills to the test of the pop marketplace when the Rentals release their second album, Seven More Minutes (Maverick-Reprise), on April 13.

"I'm expecting a very good response to the album. There's definitely a big buzz in the air," says Mike Powers, Maverick's Director of College and Triple A Promotion. "College radio is very excited about it. I've been receiving calls about the album since last February when it was originally scheduled to come out." Powers says that Maverick will initially focus the album's promotion on college and non-commercial radio, where the band first made an impact. The album will go for adds at college radio on March 9, one week in advance of the commercial radio add date for the album's first single, "Getting By."

Written largely in Barcelona, Spain, and recorded in London and parts of the U.S., Seven More Minutes showcases a looser, more diverse Rentals sound. Moog and Arp synthesizers continue to characterize the band's new wavey pop, and That Dog's Petra Hayden again serves as the group's main female vocal presence. But unlike Return Of The Rentals, Seven More Minutes features a diverse lineup of guests, including Lush's Miki Berenyi, Blur's Damon Albarn, Elastica's Donna Matthews and Ash's Tim Wheeler. The result is more cosmopolitan pop, further dispeling the Rentals' reputation as a quirky Weezer offshoot and cementing Sharp's credibility as a bandleader.

Powers says that the label plans to launch a Seven More Minutes college radio promotional contest at the end of March, which will involve "taking care of your rent." Music videos and a tour are currently being planned, but nothing has been finalized at press time.

CHART ACTIVITY

SEBADOH

Radio 200: #18 debut Core Radio: #27 debut Adds: #1 with 173 reports

It's been two-and-a-half years since Harmacy, the last Sebadoh record, and in that time the band has undergone a line-up change (new drummer Russ Pollard has replaced longtime trapsman Bob Fay) and a slight realignment of label affiliation (The Sebadoh is the band's first Sup Pop release via Sire). Its fanbase has hardly weakend over the break, however, as The Sebadoh makes strong debuts on both Core (#27) and the Radio 200 (#18), while also snaring a staggering 173 Adds. With a rock-solid history at college radio and indie promotion company AAM helping Sub Pop get the word out, The Sebadoh is destined for a shot a the #1 spot.

JIMMY EAT WORLD

Jimmy Eat World's second album for Capitol has an impressive first week at radio, no doubt thanks in part to some savvy set-up by the label's college promotion department. At the beginning of the year, stations were serviced with a five-song EP released by Fueled By Ramen, the band's own label. It peaked at #32 of its own accord, and in the process familiarized the reporting panel with this intense emo rock band. This week Clarity reaps the rewards with strong debuts on Core (#39) and the Radio 200 (#21),

QUINTRON

Radio 200: #43 debut Core Radio: #16 debut

These Hands Of Mine (Skin Graft) looks as though it will be Quintron's most successful effort yet. It's not surprising, either, considering that the New Orleans organ player/inventor/soul man perfected his formula in a way that college radio can get down to. Forsaking the noisy chaos of his earlier work to deliver an album of rockers, tangos, waltzes, obscure covers and other bits of exotica, Quintron's got a lock on quirky house-rockin'. And with his girlfriend Miss Pussycat's puppet shows preceding his live performances, he's a sight to behold in a live setting. Core Radio is particularly fond of These Hands Of Mine, debuting the album at #16, but the Radio 200 is following suit with a debut at #43.

ADEN

Radio 200: #30 debut Core Radio: #14 debut

Black Cow is Aden's second album for TeenBeat, and it's a marked progression for the DC-based band. Where its debut was a more delicate and downbeat guitar pop offering, Black Cow surges with more confidence and verve, apparently drawing in more fans in the process. With the help of indie promotion company Fanatic, Aden makes an impressive debut at no less than #14 on the Core Radio chart. The Radio 200 is not far behind, with a #30 debut to follow up the album's appearance at #11 on last week's Adds chart.

Radio Invasion

www.radioinvasion.com Contact: Jeff Burgess 1908 Ridgewood Bakersfield, CA, 93306 Phone: 805.871.3975 Email: rfb925fm@aol.com Fax: 805.871.3975

Once you read the news that Radio Invasion DJs will be "in Las Vegas for the 1st Annual B.Y.O. Punk Rock Bowling Tournament," you know this is not going to be your typical online radio station. In fact, Radio Invasion is a reincarnation of the pirate radio station, Radio Free Bakersfield, and most of RI's content and attitude comes from pirate radio. But while Radio Invasion's attitude and programming reflects pirate radio, the site, with its stew of original graphics and imagery, centers around an alien motif (hence, Radio Invasion). DJs names include "She Who Cannot Be Named," "Chauncey The Loon" and "The Aztlan Warrior" and show names include "Used And Abused" and "Café Detox." When there is no live show, Radio Invasion streams its "Tune-O-Matic," a random jumble of Radio Invasion's favorites. Radio Invasion also has an IRC hook-up embedded in its home page, where you can chat with the DJ and fellow listeners. Also, RI has learned from bigger sites like NetRadio and established a semi-official retail link in http://www.andynoise.com, where you can buy what Radio Invasion plays. Radio Invasion is a very blunt, honest site that is very much true to its pirate radio roots. The personalities are easy to reach, the music is cutting-edge and the site itself supports the its thinly veiled threat that "The future of radio is going to leave the regular local commercial stations behind.'

Arbitron Study Shows Growth Of Internet

A recent study by radio tracking and research company Arbitron, in conjunction with Edison Media Research, shows that Internet broadcasting is on ARBITRON the rise. The study supports the claim that Internet broadcasting is a potentially key factor in the future of e-commerce. More than one quarter of all Americans engaged in online activity have used the Internet for purchases, and 20% of that figure has shopped for music and CDs. This percentage is significantly higher than the 12% of online shoppers who buy books online. The study also cites an increase in the number of households with Internet access (41%, up from the 30% tallied in July 1998), which is largely accountable for the boom in Web broadcasting. In addition, the number of online broadcast listeners has doubled during the past six months, as 13% of Internet-using Americans are tuning in to Internet radio.

UBL Adds MP3 Section

The Ultimate Band List (www.ubl.com) has expanded to include a new section devoted to MP3 files. "MP3s on UBL" will feature two or three artistauthorized MP3 tracks each week. The site has already featured tracks artists such as Underworld, Buckcherry, Incubus and Death In Vegas guitarist Anthony Anderson. "UBL enthusiastically supports the use of authorized MP3s as an artist development and promotional tool," said Steve Rennie, UBL President. "We believe that using this technology along with traditional music marketing tactics will increase the speed and efficiency with which record labels successfully promote their up-and-coming bands and build fan followings."

Online Distribution Available At AT&T Labs Site

AT&T Labs is working with the Oberlin Conservatory of Music to offer independent and/or unsigned artists online distribution Internet service through the new Digitalphono (www.digitalphono.com). The site uses new audio compression technology to minimize download time. Digitalphono is also testing AT&T Labs' new encoding and encrypting system, which protects intellectual property rights.

America Online Signs Marketing Deal With Columbia House

America Online has signed a multi-year marketing deal with direct music, video and DVD marketing company Columbia House. The deal covers online and off-line advertising and promotions, including product building, direct mail and co-marketing campaigns. Columbia House will promote its retail clubs on AOL's Shopping Channel, as well as on AOL.com, CompuServe, Digital City and Entertainment Asylum. Columbia House's 13 million club members also will be able to request AOL software, which they may obtain in Columbia Houses's product mailings.

MCY Presents NETrax Format

MCY Music, which is set to launch its digital music site this month, gave a presentation featuring its NETrax audio delivery system, at the MIDEM music industry conference in Cannes, France. MCY recently worked with ARIS Technologies to incorporate its Musicode digital watermarking system into the audio delivery system. Prior to playing NETrax files, consumers must complete an actual purchase to ensure valid copyright protection and payment to the holders of that copyright. The NETrax format also promotes rapid downloads (on average, a threeminute track takes six minutes to download using a 56K modem), thanks to an enhanced compression system. "NETrax is simply a new way of listening to music that ensures the livelihood of artists and music producers around the world," said Bernard Fritsch, CEO/Chairman of MCY Music. A NETrax portable player is in the initial stages of production, as well.

GBS Merges With Emusic

GBS Radio Networks has merged with the Emusic/GoodNoise Corp., under the name EmusicRadio. Working as a division of Emusic, EmusicRadio will develop and syndicate online radio networks and the division will operate small- and medium-market radio outlets. GBS President Guy Giuliano will continue to lead the company, and he will also join Emusic's management team. GBS had merged with Nordic Entertainment last October, which has been purchased by GoodNoise. The new company, Emusic Corp., plans to issue an initial public offering.

SILVER SCOOTER

Orleans Parish (Peek-A-Boo)

Silver Scooter uses its melodic and harmonic strengths wisely to suck the listener into its sophomore album, Orleans Parish. Scott Garred's keen guitar playing is the album's most prominent element, until the expressive drumming and the rhythm section's respectful restraint make themselves known. The precise mix heightens the overmoodiness, especially on "New Orleans" and "Sleight Of Hand." Garred's controlled whine resembles the cry of a plaintive teenager wistfully delivering lyrics that show off mature insights and honesty. Silver Scooter carefully assembles these individual elements into strong, sharp indie rock with a tendency towards the melancholic. - Kelso Jacks

OF MONTREAL The Gay Parade (Bar/None)

The Gay Parade is psychedelic pop's answer to The Canterbury Tales. Mastermind Kevin Barnes presents a series of colorful characters throughout these 16 tracks - the singer likens each song to a float passing through a happy parade. Although some of these tales are bittersweet — there's one about a widower who misses his wife - they sound consistently upbeat thanks to whimsical instrumentation, singalong melodies and bouncy tempos. Unlike the comparatively reserved pop on Of Montreal's lovelorn album The Petite Tragedy, The Gay Parade bursts with over-thetop, theatrical arrangements. Barnes's multitude of guests add horns, keyboards, toy pianos, bells, whistles and other embellishments — there's even a 42-singer chorus. Of Montreal's refreshingly honest emotions and its exuberant songs offer a much-needed escape from an angstfilled world. - Wendy Mitchell

D GENERATION

Through The Darkness (C2/Columbia-CRG)

D Generation, New York City's favorite gang of punk ruffians, has titled its latest record Through The Darkness, which is wholly appropriate given that the album's relentless power chords could light up all

Square. With new guitarist Todd Youth (late of Murphy's Law) in tow, D Gen puts up its dukes and relives its gritpunk glory days, avoiding the polished sheen of its Ric Ocasek-produced No Lunch. At present, D Gen may be concentrating more on its songwriting craft, but don't let that mislead you; vocalist Jesse Malin and company are still flyin' by the seat of their collective rock 'n' roll pants. Blessed with body-infiltrating melodies, unstoppable energy, and a don't-fuck-with-me-attitude, Through The Darkness is blarin' and rarin' to go. - Amy Sciarretto

DIESELHED

Elephant Rest Home (Bong Load)

Depressing but occasionally uplifting, the slow country ballads of San Francisco's Dieselhed focus on quiet reveries and sad stories about failed romances. Nine mopeworthy songs may make the band sound like a bunch of losers, but the group's aching vocal monies, sentimental themes and memorable choruses will at least win the hearts of listeners. Less scattershot than Dieselhed's previous three albums, the singular balladry of Elephant Rest Home delves deeper into the songs themselves, never cluttering the music with a mishmash of tempos, nor succumbing to stylistic hopscotch. This is country that will cry on your shoulder as it wends its way into your blue heart. - Tad Hendrickson

INSPECTER 7

Banished To Bogeyland (Radical)

Banished To Bogeyland's artwork depicts two skinheads abandoning a group of puppetlike people on a dark, island netherworld. One female puppet's shirt reads "I'm Just A Girl." This suckerpunch directed at mainstream ska delivers a clear message: Inspecter 7 is uncompromisingly authentic, and everyone else can just go to hell. Fortunately, the record is strong enough to back up that credo. The New Jersey sextet infuses a confident grasp of soul into a midtempo set of ska scorchers. Tim Boyce's guitar and Lord Skoochie's saxophone ring with emotion and sincerity over the syncopated rhythms. which adhere to the signature jazziness of the genre's original Jamaican sound. Nevertheless, in true skinhead fashion, Banished still sneaks in a couple of thickthroated, grunting Oi! anthems to break up the smooth skanking. - Kelso Jacks

CREATURES

Anima Animus (Instinct)

The Banshees stopped howling for good in 1995, but Siouxsie Sioux and husband/collaborator Budgie are wailing on with a new release under their longstanding tag the Creatures. While the duo's two previous albums were largely skeletal drum 'n' voice experiments, distinguished by a mystical, tribal edge, this latest offering finds the pair fleshing out its sound with an assortment of techno embellishments, orchestral backgrounds and just a smidgen of rock rage. Still, the Creatures best assets remain Sioux's alluring croon, Budgie's primal rhythms and the haunting, bewitching aura that these post-punk icons have radiated since the early-'80s. Anima Animus is easily one of Sioux's most interesting offerings of the '90s. - M. Tye Comer

GLORIA RECORD The Gloria Record (EP) (Crank!)

mer Mineral cohorts Chris Simpson and Jeremy Gomez have reunited in the Gloria Record to concoct this sprawling affair, swollen with the mournfulness of a funeral, yet imbued with the poised grace of a ballerina. Simpson's creamy, tranquil vocals give the impression that he's whispering the most intimate passages from his journal right into your ear. Sadness permeates every note on The Gloria Record, but if melancholia is your cup of tea, you'll find yourself clinging to this EP for warmth on those bitter, lonely nights. - Amy Sciarretto

ASHLEY STOVE

New Scars (Merge)

Those who like their indie rock straight-up will more than appreciate the Ashley Stove. The foursome certainly isn't the most distinctive entity on Merge's roster, but the band boasts better-than-average songwriting, bright guitar hyperactivity and a throttling rhythm section that functions with unexpected finesse. Even the typical, slack motherfucker vocals shine, especially when bassist Jennifer Walker (ex-Erectus Monotone) provides a feminine counterpoint to the lilting, strained harmonies of guitarists Matt Brown and Ben Barwick. The overall pleasant hum of New Scars is certainly upbeat, clean and winsome, but the solid tunes are far too ballsy and far too smart to ever grow nauseating, cute or overtly quirky. It's about time somebody felt up to the task of putting the "power" back in power pop.

RUSSELL GUNN

Ethnomusicology Volume 1 (Atlantic)

Ethnomusicology begins by greeting its listeners as "students," and introducing them to "Professor GunnFu," who has a Masters degree in "keeping it real." This dollop of playful hip-hop boasting isn't the only streetwise ingredient in trumpeter Gunn's urban gumbo. DJ Apollo's turntables heat up "Shiva," a tune that would be a trance if it wasn't so speedy, bubbling with Gunn's brisk melodies and sax man Gregory Tardy's wails. "Sybil's Blues," a Run-DMC sample and James Hurt's hot-and-sweet organ bump and grind to tight horn harmonies and buttery solos. At the end of this crash course, you'll come away with the knowledge that, in the right hands, a combination of jazz, soul and hip-hop can be mighty potent. Professor GunnFu deserves tenure. - Steve Ciabattoni

CINEPLEXX

Posologia (Caipirinha)

Somewhere between delight and horror lies Cineplexx, the new project from upand-coming Argentine electronic musician Sebastian Litmanovich. On one level, the music on Posologia is the stuff of dreams ghostly, breathy Spanish vocals that could have been recorded in a hollow cave weave around sluggish rhythms, woeful, nearly subliminal keyboard/guitar melodies and an almost transparent array of intelligently arranged samples. But slowly, the nightmare rolls in, as a disturbing, off-kilter wash of ambient noise echoes throughout each piece, enveloping, consuming, and blurring the distinctions between post-rock, jazz and techno textures. The end results are at once soothing and unsettling, but it's that bizarre juxtaposition of causes and effects that makes Posologia such a unique and darkly alluring piece of work. — M. Tye Comer

MICHAEL

You Must Be This Tall (G00Dblonde-Ghostmeat)

Athens, Georgia, band Michael is a modernized, model "power trio" for 1999. At first blush, You Must Be This Tall sounds like it takes most of its cues from the musical intensity and the gut-wrenching vocals of emo-core. Those characteristics are indeed present, but the band's most defining trait is actually its superb musicianship. Each player is a near-virtuoso, harnessing the velocity and the intensity of late-'90s punk with accomplished finesse and instrumental chops. The group's songs flow with equal expertise, propelled forward by overlapping, sustained notes and chords that glide over time signature fluctuations. Michael just may very well be emo's answer to Rush! — Cheryl Botchick

SWIMMER

Surreal (Maverick)

Swimmer's debut rides on a strained, surrealistic bed of emotive, post-grunge crooning by guitarist/vocalist Anday McCarron, whose fierce, Thom Yorke-like vocals wind and soar before they plummet into depths of dramatized angst. Surreal's components—ringing, often-overwhelming walls of guitars and Chad Royce's concussive drumming—provide an effective sonic backdrop that, especially on "Kick In The Head," forms jagged sheets of crafty melodies and measured dissonance. The strings-enhanced "Spaced Out Hats" is cut from the same darkly intimate cloth Bush's as "Glycerine," yet by the time the closand ing, melodically rich "Halo" approaches, you're left numbed by the album's raucous, melancholic dips and dives, and its sharp, piercing hooks. — Glen Sansone

SPY

Music To Maunzer By (Lava-Atlantic)

Created in an abandoned silent movie theater with an arsenal of vintage instruments and a Mac computer, Spy's debut album might be the most remarkable exercise in genre cross-hatching recently released on a major label. The brainchild of NYU film student Joshua Ralph, Music To Mauzner By may mislead you into pigeonholing its multilayered aesthetic as more of the dreaded "e" word ("electronica," that is.) But after several listens, you'll strip away the blankets of big beat and tech-no to find a fascinatingly cinematic record steeped in elements of Motown soul, fatback funk, Southern gospel, old school hip-hop, '80s retro pop, world music, classical and even mariachi music. Not too shabby for a kid who had never played an instrument before he made this album.

BETH CAPPER

Complimentary Mood Enhancer... (WIN)

Beth Capper is one nutty performer. This impenetrable, yet somehow cohesive, concept album proves that's she's also pretty damn talented. Her persona and vocal stylings run the gamut from post-modern songstress to murderous shrew to seductive she-devil, and her ensemble expressionistically splatters stoned experimental rock and weird contempo pop with low-rent beatboxes, chunky bass fuzz, percussive tribal clanks, tape manipulations, industrial-strength guitars and retro synth screech. Capper views avant-garde ugliness and crass L.A. pop culture through the same lens, and her demon-seed, would-be rock opera speaks a vivid alien language of edgy, perverse music and iconography. Purportedly the soundtrack to a film called Wig-Lichers, this psychotic song cycle is either pure, evil sexiness or the intellectual con-job of the year. — Jordan N. Mamone

KISS OFFS

Goodbye Private Life (Peek-A-Boo)

The fact that two members of the Kiss Offs are also in the 1-4-5's (named after garage rock's best-loved chord progression) should tip you off to the former band's bare-bones rock 'n' roll style. But while the 1-4-5's are goofy and a little lunkheaded, the Kiss Offs are sneering and petulant. Though the KOs mine triedand-true ramshackle rock complete with simple organ riffs, they make their mark with their jaded hipster personality. The vocals — which sound occasionally bored, a little sinister, or more spoken than sung (recalling Sonic Youth's Kim Gordon circa Goo) — are the key to the Kiss Offs' snotty charm. Goodbye Private Life ought to be an irresistible album for the dangerously, tragically hip. — Cheryl Botchick

FLASHBACK

OS MUTANTES

Os Mutantes; Mutantes; A Divina Comedia (Omplatten)

Os Mutantes (the Mutants) were one of the leading groups of Brasil's Tropicalia movement, which also included Tom Zé, Caetano Veloso, Gilberto Gil and Gal Costa. Formed in 1967 by guitarist Sergio Baptista, bassist Arnando Baptista and vocalist Rita Lee, the trio took the inspirational sunshine of the psychedelicera and filtered it through a surreal and playful South American kaleidoscope. Like the other Tropicalistas, Mutantes were rock 'n' roll rebels, never embraced by Brazil's military government or by the subversive far left. Yet the band cut its own path through the social mindfield of the '60s and early '70s to create an innovative, hazy style that that has become increasingly influential. Since the band split in 1973, Os Mutantes (1968), Mutantes (1969) and A Divina Comedia (1970) have become collector's items, thanks in part to praise from Beck, David Byrne and Stereolab, who give these Brazilians the credit they deserve. — Tad Hendrickson

ROOTS 'N' BLUES

VARIOUS ARTISTS

Every Road I Take: The Best Of Contemporary Acoustic Blues (Shanachie)

You might have thought that acoustic blues would have been washed away by the deluge of electricity and the passage of time, or that the quiet genre would have been wiped out in our contemporary, messed-up world filled with heavy metal, high-BPM jungle, industrial hardcore and gangsta rap. But folks haven't given up on acoustic instruments, and lately, there's actually been something of a renaissance of "unplugged" bluesmen. This compilation contains intimate performances by Alvin Youngblood Hart, R.L. Burnside, Keb' Mo, Tab Benoit, Corey Harris, John Hammond, Rory Block and Chris Smither, among others. As a mood-setting record, Every Road I Take is a welcome respite from the histrionic guitar solos and the din of modern life. — James Lien

BANDWAY

Balls Out (High Impedence)

Bandway's debut album is entitled Balls Out — the first clue that there's nothing subtle (or overly classy) about the band.

This Raleigh, North Carolina, duo is the brainchild of two veteran musicians, Bo Taylor (Dish, Motocaster) and Brooks Carter (Jack-O-Nuts, Buzz Hungry), who have forsaken indie rock for the heavy riffs of classic, AC/DC-style proto-metal. With lyrics such as "Back in the tar pits/God took a bong hit," Taylor and Carter surely have their tongues firmly planted in their cheeks — probably next to a wad of chewing tobacco. But Bandway isn't just making fun of the good ol' boys for a laugh. Taylor and Carter really do appreciate the power of primal, dumbeddown rock. The pair's hilarious lyrics and shamelessly catchy songs will have you airguitaring and singing along within seconds. — Wendy Mitchell

I'M YOUR Fan

DE LA SOUL

De La Soul Is Dead (Tommy Boy)

I've been on this kick lately where all I listen to is classic, old school hip-hop with the exception of the new Roots album, of course. It's not that I'm unsatisfied with today's hip-hop. It's just that I listen to so much new music when I'm here at CMJ, during my leisure time I prefer to chill out with a timeless gem like Mecca And The Soul Brother or The Low End Theory. But, of all the classics I've been bumpin' on my Buick stock speakers, the one album that hasn't left my car stereo - since I stole it back from my man Monkey Boy six years ago - is De La Soul Is Dead. A lot of kids will probably try to prove me wrong, but I think that the second joint from these Strong Island natives is one of the most criminally overlooked albums in rap history. It's also one of my all-time favorites. While De La's 1989 debut 3 Feet High And Rising is considered by many to be the trio's finest achievement, a lot of hip-hop purists couldn't see past the album's hippie-fied D.A.I.S.Y. Age image and passed off De La as "straight-up boot." Dropped in the spring of 1991, the dark, heavy-hitting De La Soul Is Dead was a direct response to the naysayers that had always doubted De La's skills as lyricists and MCs. Dead's streetwise veneer and abstract sense of humor may have thrown off many of the pop kids first drawn to the group's Day Glo effect, but those who "got it" gave the crew utmost respect from that day on. I can go on and on about this record and overanalyze the hell out of it until the cows come home, but my pure unsolicited love and enjoyment of De La Soul Is Dead transcends such paltry rock crit pretensions. Just know and respect this: No other hip-hop album has been able to touch this one for nearly a decade, the biddies always can be found hangin' at the BK lounge, and the rhythm loop on "Keepin' The Faith" distills just about everything imaginative and fresh about hip-hop into a single beat. - Ron Hart

For Fans Of: Main Source, A Tribe Called Quest, Jungle Brothers

Bio-Fact: The Turtles' 1989 court case against De La Soul and Prince Paul for the appropriation of "You Showed Me" (on 3 Feet High's "Transmitting Live From Mars") caused the creation of sample-clearance laws.

FRONTSIDE Frontside (Wax Trax!-TVT)

The distinctive squeak and squelch of the Roland 303 bass machine has been an integral part of dance music for nearly a decade, but clever producers, such as Australia's Frontside, keep finding ways to tweak the familiar device in uncommon, creative directions. The duo's selftitled debut is a celebration of the "acid" sound. On each cut, Frontside wields the 303 alongside an array of complex breakbeats, howling sub-bass frequencies and dense walls of interstellar sound. The pair proves itself and the 303 to be clever chameleons by continually changing the tones from fierce and funky to angry and aggressive, then to sensual and soothing.

Together As One (Moonshine)

Conceptually, this compilation is a souvenir from California's 12,000-person, New Year's Eve 1998 "Together As One" rave. Musically, it's a vibrant sampling of the sounds keeping the U.S. rave scene alive, including techno, drum 'n' bass, trance and breakbeat, and featuring original cuts by the event's biggest names. It's one of the most impressive compilations to come from the Moonshine imprint yet.

CHUCK E. WEISS
Extremely Cool (Slow River-Rykodisc)

The guttural musical mix of Extremely Cool (produced by Tom Waits who also co-wrote two songs) is as eclectic as the life of Chuck E. Weiss. Raised in Denver, Weiss began hanging out in nightclubs at age 10 and toured with Lightnin' Hopkins as a teenager. His chance meeting with Waits in 1972 led him to L.A. where he inspired Rickie Lee Jones's hit "Chuck E.'s In Love," signed with Select Records and penned several soundtracks. All of those influences/experiences can be heard on Extremely Cool, his first release in 18 years. Weiss's gravelly voice and wild musical mood swings — from boogie-woogie to honky-tonk to dirty blues — make this comeback album one that can be spun repeatedly without fear of boredom.

BEAVER NELSON The Last Hurrah (Freedom)

Beaver Nelson burst onto the Austin scene in 1991, seemingly poised for quick success. But inner-label struggles at one of the majors indefinitely shelved nearly two albums worth of his material. Fortunately, The Last Hurrah has escaped to reveal a talented county-pop singer with whiskey-smooth vocals and a keen ear for melody. A semi-acoustic, but rocking ensemble highlights Nelson's best.

Dublin To Dakar: A Celtic Odyssey (Putumayo World Music) Dublin To Dakar explores how Celtic music has affected pop from Senegal to Norway. Surprisingly, many of these unique tracks rock, rather than plod sleepily along the moors. The Modena City Ramblers come off like the Italian Pogues, Brigid Boden offers Celtic reggae, and Alan Stivell with Youssou N'Dour gives us Irish-Afropop over percussion loops.

SKINLAB

Disembody: The New Flesh (Century Media)

Skinlab's second full-length, Disembody: The New Flesh, will leave you scarred and loving it. The unwavering, stop-and-go riffs of this bruising Bay Area band impact like earthquakes registering 8.9 on the Richter scale. Once you think it's safe to dive back into the moshpit, more down-tuned riffs kick in like brutal aftershocks, with blistering rhythms burning at a fever pitch against the brooding growls of bassist Steev Esquivel's bass. Those quick enough to snatch up a copy the band's limited-edition Eyesore EP should pat themselves on the back; it's now completely out of print. For those who missed it, though, Disembody... should more than satisfy your insatiable metal appetites!

PRO-PAIN

Act Of God (Nuclear Blast America)

Pro-Pain has been perfecting its combustible hybrid of thrash metal grooves and hardcore social consciousness for nearly ten years. The band, which recently relocated to Florida from its native New York, has changed members more often than some people change their underwear, but it nonetheless remains viable, firing off flammable, mid-tempo guitar rock anthems. While Act Of God is no Foul Taste Of Freedom, it's powered by gut-grinding solos and the vitriolic snarls and barks of founding member and vocalist Gary Meskil, helping it to capture the classic Pro-Pain sound.

FU MANCHU Eatin' Dust (Man's Ruin)

Fu Manchu has practically cornered the market on stoner metal, with a fuzzy guitar tone as thick as wet cement. Fu's gigantic riffs and battering drumbeats are always smokin', making it the hottest stoner rock outfit since Kyuss. Eatin' Dust combines the sold-out Godzilla 10" with five new tracks, allowing Fu to pick up where Kyuss left off: Making the Loud Rock world a smokier, more jamming place.

GRUPO AFRO BORICUA

Bombazo (Blue Jackel)

Although Cuban influences often dominate Latin music, other Spanish-speaking islands have their own important musical traditions. Grupo Afro Boricua is a leading exponent of Puerto Rico's traditional musical forms, the bomba and the plena. These exciting musical styles feature kinetic drumming, call-and-response singing, lavish costumes and improvisational dancing, making for some of the most spiritually charged music imaginable. Under the direction of William Cepeda, this is perhaps the most vital expression of Puerto Rico's Afro-Caribbean musical heritage ever captured on disc. Cepeda also has a jazz-inflected solo album out now on Blue Jackel as well.

This compilation celebrates reggae music's undeniable vitality with 16 tracks from some of reggae's biggest and brightest names, including Dennis Brown, Marcia Griffiths, Judy Mowatt, Frankie Paul and more. It's especially refreshing to see so many female artists' names in there with the men, who usually dominate the field. All of these new or recent tracks were produced by crucial reggae producer Karl Pitterson.

OUTER SPACE

"We Lyve"/"Elements" (12") (Superegular)

Puerto Rican MCs from North Philly and newest members to the Superegular family, Outer Space represent the "215" with organic. Roots-styled instrumentals and a fresh Spanish flavoring that rides smoothly beneath the trio's dark, smoky rhymes.

DUJEOUS

"Breathtaking"/ "Epic Proportions" (12")

(Wax Poetic)

Dujeous created a buzz around New York for their hyped live show, and this single proves they're just as exciting on wax. The warm, live vibe and intelligent delivery (reminiscent of Guru) makes Dujeous a crew to keep an eye on.

> PSYCHO, RIP ONE IRISCIENCE & BABU

"On Deadly Ground" (12") (Blackberry Records)

This union of MCs and DJs resurrect the energy of oldschool turntable battles. Psycho's rugged verses flip over Rip One's scratches, on the flipside Iriscience (from Dilated People) lets loose over Babu's deft turntable flexes.

jazz news

The David S. Ware Quartet has lost another drummer. Susie Ibarra has left the band to pursue her other musical interests. Ibarra played her last show with the quartet in London, in early February. The talented percussionist is featured on two recent, non-Ware albums. Home Cookin' is a duo album with Ibarra's spouse, saxophonist Assift Tsahar released on their own Hopscotch Records. In addition, Wobbly Rail Records recently issued Drum Talk, Ibarra's collaboration with the late Denis Charles. The Ware Quartet's new drummer Guillermo E. Brown is set to make his debut during Ware's show with Sonic Youth, at New York's Hammerstein Ballroom. The young drummer has also been playing with Cooper-Moore's quartet...Legendary pianist Dave Brubeck has announced plans to bequeath a new jazz studies program at his alma mater, the University Of The Pacific. The pianist will also provide students and experts at the school with original manuscripts, correspondence and archival material of historical interest...In March and April, saxophonist Steve Lacy and his trio will play in a town near you. Lacy's forthcoming U.S. tour is certianly a rare treat, as the jazz luminary has lived in Paris since the late-'60s...Acclaimed young trumpeter Dave Douglas will hit the open road in support of Convergence, his latest title on Soul Note. Featuring the talents of violinist Mark Feldman, cellist Erik Friedlander, bassist Drew Gress and drummer Michael Sarin, Douglas's quintet will play a series of dates throughout late February, March and April.

TERENCE BLANCHARD

Jazz In Film (Sony Classical) Terence Blanchard is a model of the '90s jazzman sensitive, articulate and a keeper of the jazz flame. Blanchard is also able to work as a viable commercial entity through his acclaimed work on movie soundtracks, including a number of Spike Lee films. Here Blanchard essays famous jazz themes from movies using his band as well as full orchestral accompaniment. The classic compositions by Duke Ellington, Elmer Bernstein and Alex North among others are all stylishly addressed. Anyone who thinks that "movie jazz" is not a serious proposition will think again after hearing this album. Filled with Alist players like Joe Henderson, Steve Turre and Donald Harrison, this is also one the late-Kenny Kirkland's last recording sessions.

DOUG LAWRENCE High Heel Sneakers (Fable)

High Heel Sneakers is a romp in the park, a heartfelt, swinging tribute to funky Hammond B-3 jazz of the '60s. Tenor sax player Doug Lawrence knows a thing or two about it, having served in the ranks of bands led by Wild Bill Davis and more recently in the pit at the Savoy nightclub in New York. High Heel Sneakers swings, swaggers, rolls, boogaloos and boogies. It's infectious fun that shouldn't be missed.

GEORGE FREEMAN

George Burns! (Southport)

Back at the turn of the '70s, when jazz was lowdown and funky, George Freeman was there with his guitar to give the groove its grease. Now in the '90s, as whole new legions of fans are rediscovering his body of work, Freeman is still true to his muse, playing one of the meanest jazz guitars on the Chicago scene. His second release for Southport continues his masterful take on the funk. George burns...get it?

be released this summer, will consist of nothing but pure metal. Sabbath met a standing ovation for its set, which boasted burning torches; a stoic, leather-clad Tony Iommi; a gymnastically-inclined, leap-frogging Ozzy who modified every word he read off the teleprompter with "fuck"; Geezer Butler smacking his bass; and a shirtless Bill Ward pounding the hell outta the skins. Heads were banging, ignited Bics were flaring, and heaviness ruled for three-plus hours...Ozzy and Coal Chamber have teamed up to cover Peter Gabriel's "Shock The Monkey" for Coal Chamber's forthcoming Chamber Music...Call it a NWOBHM comeback, as Bruce Dickinson and Adrian Smith have returned to the fold of Iron Maiden... Bassist Bob Whiteside has exited Snapcase, the band will release anew record on Victory this Summer...Far's Jonah Matranga is tackling a solo project... Whit Crane's tenure as the singer for Life Of Agony is history. Bassist Alan Robert will assume vocal duties, with Stuck Mojo's Corey Lowery taking over on bass...Buried Alive is wrapping up its Victory debut Death Of Your Perfect World. The Buffalo band trekked down to Jersey's Trax East to work with hardcore producer Steve Evetts... System Of A Down will perform at the McGathy party and on the main stage at Ozzfest. The Loud Rock radio panel, which has shown much love to SOAD, will be treated to a special, promo EP in March. Most people know Adam Dorn as Mocean Worker, the innovative, up-and-coming electronic musician whose two fulllength releases, Mixed Emotional Features (Palm Pictures-Rykodisc) and Home Movies From The Brainforest (Conscious-Never), injected the sound and energy of jazz, gospel and other "traditional" forms of music into a sci-fi realm of techno artifices and breakbeat rhythms. But Dorn's life experience reaches far beyond his recording career. The son of highly regarded jazz producer Joel Dorn, Adam picked up the bass when he was 16 and subsequently dropped out of school to study under bassist/producer Marcus Miller, who had worked with such heavies as Miles Davis, Luther Vandross and David Sanborn. Later, Dorn attended the Berkelee School Of Music to finish his musical training.

At the age of 28, the musician has plenty of experience under his belt: he's been a studio player, a producer and, with his father, he's formed 32 Records, which repackages jazz from the '70s and issues new material by bands such as the Jazz Passengers. A minority owner in Dad's label, the younger Dorn has overseen many compilations, including Jazz For A Rainy Afternoon, Jazz For The Quiet Times, Jazz For The The Open Road and Jazz For When You're Alone, which are currently four of the top-10 selling jazz records in America. Under Dorn's supervision, 32 recently put the final touches on a Judy Garland box set, which contains two CDs of material from the singer's television show, a double-CD audio documentary of her life, and a half-hour video containing excerpts from the show.

CMJ: Weren't you sort of a showbiz child?

Dorn: Actually, from a very young age — 4 or 5 — I knew I would work in music. I didn't have a lot of friends as a kid, not because I wasn't friendly or anything. It was just because my dad came home on weekends, and invariably whichever artists he was working with would come home [with him]. So on any given weekend it was the Neville Brothers or Marvin Hamlisch — I taught him how to throw a curve ball. [Laughs] It was weird. He wrote a song for my mom.

So what does a compilation producer do?

It's the same thing a DJ does. It's based on your taste. I'm not saying that I'm the man. I didn't expect this [kind of success] at all. I get off more with the fact that I work with my father, and he gives me this enormous responsibility.

What other jazz records have you worked on?

Together we did the whole Rhino Atlantic reissues in the early '90s. I was part of that, but he was like "You're a little young, and I don't want you to get too cocky. I want you to do lots of work and research and show it to me to prove that you know what you know what you are doing." On the Coltrane set, I got [the title of] Production Associate because that is what I deserved. When you're 19, you don't get [to be] Co-producer of the John Coltrane boxed set. Now, [my father and I] share production credit, or sometimes it's mine. All these Jazz For.... compilations — he's like "You make them. You know what you are doing."

You played bass as a session musician for a few years. What made you decide to go out on your own?

Having played on lots of records and done lots of tours, I knew I didn't want to work with other people. I wanted to see if I could do this completely by myself — top to bottom. On my first record [Home Movies...], I took the simplest breakbeat of all time and mixed it with the best gospel singer ever, Mahalia Jackson, and that was the whole reason I did it. I did that track in like 20 minutes. That song...if it had been on a major, it could have been a goofy little hit. That song had nothing to do with me, that song was all her. She's the best fucking singer and no one our age knows about her. There are 16-year-old kids emailing me going "Wow, is she touring?"

Why did you decide to be an electronic music producer and not a "traditional" musician?

Twenty years ago, we wouldn't be talking about this. We'd be talking about how I did go the traditional route. But in all honesty, traditional jazz is a little dead. There is no more Hannibal Adams. There is no more Bill Evans. There are some people making some nice records, but certain things have already been done. This is not the era to be a [traditional] musician. This is the era to be almost like a sample artist. To me, the music I am making now is a form of jazz. It's time to do new things.

Did you find it easy recording your first two albums? The first record was written completely as a therapy exercise. I was just fucking around to get reacquainted with my home studio, and that record just happened. And the next record [Mixed Emotional Features] was like, well, someone liked the first and they wanted to license it, so let's see what happens if I try it again, and hopefully it won't be a big pile of shit. I didn't plan this at all.

How difficult was it making the transition from producing other people's music to creating your own?

If you know how to make records, you know how to make records. If you just listen, you can get a feel for what's going on. A lot of the records I make aren't based on what I listen to in terms of dance music. It's just based on movies I've seen, books I've read, or paintings I've viewed. It's all based on stimulation. There's a story to every song on my record. The first song on my album, "René M," is a dedication to René Magritte, the Belgian painter. "Counts, Dukes & Strays" is a tribute to Count Basie, Duke Ellington and Billy Strayhorn. I saw the movie Next Stop, Wonderland, went home and said, "I wanna write," and wrote "Wonderland." It has nothing to do with the movie, but it does because that's what inspired me to write it.

How much of your music is based on samples?

My music is about [a] 50/50 [split between sampling and original production]. I make that a conscious effort...because when you sample someone playing a saxophone or something, you get to play with [that person]. I'm sampling them so I can make music surrounding them. If I sample something from the Beatles, or Miles Davis, these landmark recordings - subconsciously, you feel that. You can't emulate that sound, so you have to record it. On my first record, there's a song called "Somanyangles," and it's Ringo Starr playing the drums. I mean, I sped it up and chopped it up, but it's still fucking Ringo. You can't get that sound in the studio, and you certainly can't get him to come play it. It's like you're mixing individuals together who would normally never play together and creating something that hopefully has a life of its own. I hope that in 10 years, I can listen to my stuff and say, this has a life. This has a value that transcends and isn't just something that was churned out to be used in a club. I hope [my music] ends up being viewed as compositions rather than just what was going on in the fall of '98.

So, why do you still work at 32?

I'm a minority owner so I have to. They let me keep kindergarten hours and let me be [Dorn assumes a bad German accent] "The Mocean Worker" when I want to, so I can't complain. If I get my compilations and release schedule together, I'm cool. I can work like two hours a day.

How does your father feel about what you're doing musically?

He loves my music and my career. He'll bother me sometimes when I'm working because he'll have ideas. He really wants to make a record with me and I think we will — where we'll sample some things. The most important record for me to ever make would be with my father. He was sampling shit before there was samplers. He's got better ideas than I do.

Interview by Kelso Jacks

Jade Tree has blossomed from a small, bedroomrun project into a wellrespected, mid-size independent rock label in less than 10 years. Inspired by the success and integrity of labels such as Touch And Go and Discord, Tim Owen, with his partner Darren Walters, has carefully fostered Jade Tree's growth and expects continued success in the future. With new albums from Euphone, Joan Of Arc and the Promise Ring scheduled for release this year, that seems like a safe bet.

"We don't actively seek out bands. From one day to the next we never know who we will potentially be putting out records for. Things just happen the way they are supposed to happen. Things just fall into our lap."

What did you want to be when you grew up?

It's hard to remember back that far, but I always wanted to be a pro football player. Terry Bradshaw was my idol when I was a kid. I loved the Pittsburgh Steelers! Mean Joe Greene, Lynn Swann, John Stalworth, Franco Harris...I could just go on and on. I always played sports. I was a jock, I'll admit it.

Did you have any music industry experience before Jade Tree?

When I got into punk, I started a fanzine. The next logical step was to put out records. I put out a couple of 7"s on a label I did called Axtion Packed. I put out 7"s by Release, Four Walls Falling and Even Score. They were all straight-edge hardcore bands.

How was Jade Tree founded? Was it your plan to make this label your day job?

Jade Tree was founded by myself and Darren Walters in 1990. I grew up and lived in Washington, DC. Darren was from Wilmington, Delaware. We met through a mutual friend by going to shows in DC in 1987. Darren had started a label called Hi-Impact before we met. We both were putting out straight-edge bands with our labels and realized the pigeonhole we had created. We listened to all kinds of music, so we wanted to put out all kinds of bands. We wanted to do a label that was diverse in sound but still punk. So we started Jade Tree together. We hoped that it would turn into something, but we never thought it would turn into our day jobs. We started it in our bedrooms and ran it during college and after. We took it from our bedrooms [and made it] a fulltime thing two years ago. It was started as a hobby, and it still is. Music is our life. It's been nine years, and I'm stoked on how we have grown.

Did you look to any other already existing labels as a model for Jade Tree?

When I got into punk, I instantly identified with Discord and Touch And Go. [They were] able to put out cool records by cool bands that were [their] friends [and had] that respect, integrity and credibility. They have helped change and shape the face of music and have been very motivating and inspiring to me. They didn't know what they were doing when they started putting out records. They just figured it out as they went along. That's what attracted me to punk. If you believe in someone or something then you can do anything and make it happen.

Did you expect Jade Tree to grow the way it has?

The way we have grown is and isn't unexpected, I guess. If we weren't doing things right, we still wouldn't be a label. We must be headed in the right direction since we're still putting out records. We put a lot into this label, so we expect to get a lot out of it. But with certain bands, it has been unexpected to see how they have grown. It's cool to see where we are.

Do you think that the label has a specific "sound"?

I don't think we do have a specific sound. People, especially the press, love to label things, so I'm sure they have an opinion on Jade Tree's "sound." We put out records by bands we like, whether it's Kid Dynamite, Joan Of Arc or Jets To Brazil.

How does Jade Tree discover its artists? Do you have any policy on unsolicited demos?

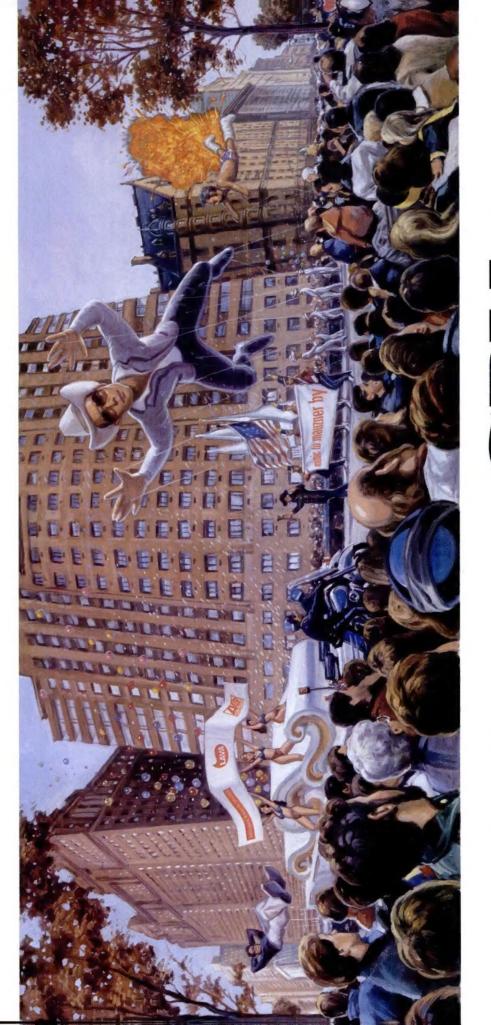

We get a ton of demos, but I don't think we will ever sign a band from a demo. If we don't know them and can't see them live, it's hard for us to think about putting out a record. We don't have any policy, but we should. We put out records with our friends — people we know. We don't actively seek out bands. From one day to the next, we never know who we will potentially be putting out records for. Things just happen the way they are supposed to happen. Things just fall into our lap.

Which non-Jade Tree bands are you impressed with these days?

Macha, Pedro The Lion, Les Savy Fav and Burning Airlines.

Finally Tim, how are you doing, really?

Well, Kelso, since you asked, I am doing great. I am just waiting for it to get warm. I'm sick of the erratic weather we're having on the East Coast. I'm just waiting for spring to get here!

Take everything you know about music. And forget it.
